Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Sunday 27 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mainly dry with clear or sunny spells, but northwest cloudier.

This Evening and Tonight:
Dry with late sunshine then prolonged clear spells for most, though lower cloud and some patchy rain pushing across the far north and west. Winds light. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Monday:
Coastal cloud and patchy drizzle in northwest becoming confined to Outer Hebrides through the morning. Otherwise, mainly dry and sunny, just an isolated afternoon shower possible over southern hills. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
South mainly dry and sunny. However rather cloudy across the north and east, with low cloud and patchy light rain sporadically feeding in on light northerly breezes.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.